Why is it important to study this question?

Many people who abuse drugs and alcohol also smoke cigarettes. The combination of cigarette smoking and substance abuse poses significant health risks. Smoking cigarettes also may make it harder for people to stop using drugs and alcohol. Studies suggest that quitting smoking may make it easier for some people to stop using drugs and alcohol. By adding treatment for smoking, patients may stay in substance abuse treatment longer. Unfortunately, there is very little information available to guide practitioners on how best to help substance abusers quit smoking. Even less is known about whether or how to incorporate smoking cessation treatment into existing community substance
